They were elected at the beginning of the first semester and held sway over forty seniors for the entire year.

TO OUR READERS

In submitting this year book the Senior Class of 1944, Ahoskie High School requests the kindly indulgence which a forgiving public usually accords to a first effort. Will you

“Be to our faults a little blind,
Be to our virtues very kind.”

This request is made, not in an effort to apologize, for we have really tried to do our best, and no man can do more, neither can the angels. Ours are the faults of youth and inexperience and surely time, “the old gypsy man” will cure all such ills.

We Seniors cherish the hope that with the publication of this year book we have set up a precedent which time will hallow in the years that are to come. We trust that ours have been the thrills and trials which come to those who blaze a trail in any field and that this year book may be a worthy monument to the pioneers who had the courage and the spirit to venture forth into territory hither-to unexplored.

We should like, also, to express our sincere thanks to every person who has, in any way, helped to make possible the production of this year book. Without the loyal support and whole-hearted cooperation of many persons, not officially connected with our staff, ours would have been an impossible task. Although we cannot adequately express our appreciation, we want you to know that it is none the less heartfelt and sincere.

SENIORS

ABNER ASKEW

"Much mirth and no madness,
All good and no badness."

ERNESTINE BAKER

"She's a student kind and true,
Does her work and seldom gets blue."

"Full of vim, vigor, and vitality is she;
Always happy and very carefree."

SHIRLEY BRITTON

"To smile and look cheerful, contented and gay,
Is an excellent method of starting the day."

CAROLYN BURDEN

"Blessed with a temper whose unclouded ray
Can make tomorrow as cheerful as today."

CHARLES CALLIS

"Charles and Frank, what a team,
Always up to some new scheme."

RAWLS CARTER

"Full well they'd laugh with glee,
At all his jokes; for many a joke had he."

S E N I O R S

FRANK CHARLES

"By the sunny smile on his mouth,
You'll just know he belongs to the South."

A ready smile and blithesome heart."

LEAVINA ANN WILLIAMS

"A little nonsense now and then
Is relished by the wisest men."

ROBERT GREENE

"Rum-a-tum, rum-a-tum—
Here's the man with the little snare drum."

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In future years when people ask of historians, "What two important events happened in the year 1933?" the historians will reply, "The United States got its first taste of the New Deal and the class of '44, Ahoskie School, North Carolina, started on their long journey through the realms of education."

And so it was that on a bright September morning in 1933, we, the class of '44, attended school for the first time and acquired a taste for "reading, writing, and arithmetic."

In due time we were promoted to the second grade and from there proceeded to the third grade. Here, we organized a band, complete with gongs, sticks, etc., and were playing at all the local meetings in town. That year, also, Mr. Tucker replaced Mr. Moore as principal of Ahoskie High School.

In the fourth grade our musical career was suspended and in compensation we received new and different kinds of studies—geography and history. During the last month of that year, with trembling hearts, we took our first State Tests and from there advanced to the fifth grade. This grade and the sixth were uneventful. In the usual manner, we passed into the seventh grade.

Here we continued our conquest of knowledge of foreign countries and knowledge of our own country along with the study of the fundamentals for our higher education. The seventh grade brought the end of the first milestone in our journey. At the end of the year, we presented the annual seventh grade commencement exercises—a play about gypsies—and received white diplomas tied in black and gold that entitled us to proceed to High School.

And so, eighty strong, we, as the Freshman Class, encountered something new and entirely different from our school life of the Grades. High School gave us more freedom and more lessons too—but more attention was paid our freshman year to our winning ball team. An attempt was made to organize Student Government, but to no avail, and so, we passed from Green Freshmen to worldly Sophomores.

We were Sophomores, preparing for the usual big Christmas time parties. Then Pearl Harbor came and suddenly we found ourselves among the "schools at war" with a part for everyone. That year, however, our program was little interfered with by the war. We had winning ball teams again with the girls' basketball team losing only one game and winning two tournaments.

From sophomores we arrived at the higher position of exalted juniors. The twelfth grade had been added between the seventh and eighth grades, so there were no freshmen, which made the high school seem lonely. New courses were added to help the boys who would soon be in the Army. Many of our boys were already in. Basketball was missed that year, though we managed to keep our football season. Due to gasoline rationing, the annual Junior Play was held in the afternoon with the proceeds going to the junior class of 1954. Our Junior-Senior banquet was not as elaborate as in previous years, due to the war, but it was everything we had hoped for. Our rings came in our junior year and for weeks we walked around with our hands in front of our faces.

Thus, we passed into the final part of our high school education. We were now "dignified seniors." The casualties had been heavy and from the eighty that started with us, only thirty-nine were to finish. Though the war had curbed our traveling, we managed to have winning teams—both football and basketball.

Mr. Tucker donned a uniform and in his place came Mr. Beale. We were the first class to publish an annual and it is our wish and hope that this be continued as long as there remains an Ahoskie High School. This year also the high school at Powellsville was linked with ours.

Now, as we close the book on the happy, carefree part of our life, pleasant memories crowd out the remaining unhappy ones. Though some of us shall never meet again there is a strong bond that holds us all together and no matter where our travels take us—these days will always hold a prominent and very dear place in our hearts. We realize that we are graduating into a world of war, but someday the war will end and then it will be up to us—the educated youth of America—to protect and insure the peace and ideals for which so many of our own youth have died.

Here endeth: here beginneth.

BETTY LIPSITZ.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of Ahuskie High School, realizing that our days are numbered at this asylum for the unfortunate, and being of sound mind and memory do hereby make and declare this our last will and testament.

We bequeath:

Morton Raynor's chewing gum to Joan Hill.
Abner Askew's size to Stanley Congleton.
Charles Callis' ability to skip classes to Leon Cowan.
Frank Charles' automobile to M. E. Forbes.
Christine Bowen's energy to Mary Frances Perry.
Carolyn Burden's famous ribbons to "Hibble" Durfey.
Marian Blowe's love for the Navy to Loella Ruley.
Nancy Dilday's Johnny Grimes to the Junior girls.
Moody Perry's ring to Mary Ann Beale.
Della Cobb's disposition to Jane Williams.
Annie Gray Cobb's long, black hair to Christine Wilson.
"Buck" Carter's intellect to "Hank" Hyatt.
Donald Earley's reserve to Thomas Humphrey.
John Moore's brains to "Pookey" Britton.
Janie Jenkins' commercial talent to "Dink" Jones.
Gaynor Holliday's perpetual smile to Bessie Eure.
Frank Powell's "hall patrol" to Carlton Hawkins.
Daisy Steele's hair style to Jewell Harrell.
"Ronney" Holloman's Boogie-woogie to Ralph Basnight.
Betty Lipsitz's executive ability to Eloise Joyner.
Lloyd Newsome's legs to Shorty Baker.
Sam Vinson's puns to Gilbert Vaughan.
Jesse Pearce's love of vaudeville to Blakely Chamblee.
Nannie Wiggin's French vocabulary to Pudding Copeland.
John Locke's spectacles to Lucille Overton.
John Pappas' broad shoulders to Calvin Parker.
Shirley Britton's blue eyes to Roy Holloman.
Buddy Glenham's "casanovering" to Hubert Robertson.
Ernestine Baker's friendliness to John Alexander.
Alice Davis' quiet greeting to Elsie Jordan.
Evelyn Eure's domestic talent to Elizabeth Ann Watson.
Dorothy Hall's ball playing ability to Nancy Dilday.
Rosa Belle Holloman's Beta Club average to Carlton Hawkins.
Shirley Jones' voice to Sylvia Harrell.
Helen Murray's calm nature to Elizabeth Congleton.
Dorothy Powell's slowness to Tillery Dempsey.
Minnie Tinkham's grades to William Willoughby.
Gertrude Wiggin's shyness to Nancy Early.
Leavina Williams' jitterbugging to Jean Sumner.

To the Junior Class as a whole we give all the responsibilities of a Senior Class. We give to them the debts to worry about, deadlines to meet, and our amazing ability to skip classes.

In witness whereof, we, the aforesaid testators, do hereunto set our hand and seal, this the first day of March, nineteen hundred and forty-four.

THE SENIOR CLASS.

PROPHECY

Picking up the Aloskie newspaper this morning I read the following account of the "Senior Class of '44." It goes as follows:

July 15, 1954—The Senior class of '44 held its 10th reunion yesterday with only two members absent, these being Gaynor Holiday and Frank Powell who are missionaries to China and were unable to get here in time for the reunion.

The class started its reunion ceremonies by a banquet given in the dining room of the Earley Hotel which is owned by Donald Earley. The hostess of the dining room and hotel is the former basketball star, Dorothy Hall. Master of ceremonies was Abner Askew, successful broker of Wall Street.

Jesse Pearce, producer of plays and vaudeville, was the toastmaster of the afternoon. His subject was "This Changing World." The speaker was introduced by Lloyd Newsome who is a professor of agriculture at State College. On Mr. Pearce's right sat Buddy Glenham who is a Lt. Col. in the Air Corps. On his left was the star of his new play, Miss Roselind Holloman.

In response to his talk Rawls Carter, president of the Sotawff Mfg. Co., spoke on "Back In Our Day." His secretary, Nancy Dilday was kept busy during this time handing him his memoranda. Alice Davis and Janie Jenkins, also members of his office staff, were present.

After the toast, John Moore explained his latest invention, television of the telephone. Then Shirley Jones consented to sing and dance for us. Shirley made her debut in the Waldorf-Astoria five years ago. Following this, Evelyn Eure, buyer for Russek's in New York, spoke on "Our School Days."

Morton Raynor, head of a truck line, amused the class with anecdotes. Then Minnie Tinkham and Nannie Wiggins gave a brief talk on the work that they have been doing in the mountains of North Carolina. Sam Vinson, a contractor of the Burma Road, and Betty Lipsitz, who has been doing chemical research work in China spoke on "Customs of China." Mrs. Bordan Rume, better known to us as Shirley Britton spoke as chairman of the housewives of the class of '44. The housewives included Mrs. I. N. Love (Dorothy Powell), Mrs. Taylor Riddick (Helen Murray), and Mrs. Edwin Carroll (Annie Gray Cobb).

Dr. Moody Perry spoke on the subject of "Modern Medicine." His assistant, Dr. Christine Bowen spoke also. Other nurses of the class present were Carolyn Burden, Marion Blowe, Della Cobb, and Rosa Belle Holloman.

School teachers, Ernestine Baker and Daisy Steele spoke on "Modern Education." Senator John L. Mitchell spoke on "Washington Since the War." His secretary, Gertrude Wiggins was with him. Farmers Charles Callis and Frank Charles declined when they were asked to tell about the large farms that they own together. Aviatrix Leavenia Williams was present with her detective husband.

The reunion ended with a dance in the ballroom of the hotel and the classmates danced to the tune of John Pappas' Orchestra and his trumpet.

PRECIOUS MEMORIES

Dear Ahoskie High, the abode of our memories of the past,
Can never be erased from our mind or from our heart;
And even after we passed through thy loved portals last,
Dear School, we can never in spirit from thee part.

For thieves can take our hoard of silver and gold,
They can destroy our hope along with our treasure,
But there is that which none can take, however bold,
The dear memory of thy days of simple pleasure.

In the troublesome days of tomorrow when all is drear
The Phantom of those time revered yesterdays
Will calm our storm, and steer us to the pier,
For none can combat thy honored, peaceful ways.

Dear Ahoskie High, 'till the time life's shadows fall,
Precious memories, that tide that does forever flow,
Will fill our tired and weary soul blotting all
Save the pure and clean—leaving a beautiful afterglow.

By MINNIE TINKHAM.

ALMA MATER

"Of all the schools in Carolina,
Ahoskie High's the best,
It never shirks from any duty,
Best in every test.
Listen to our declaration
From Ahoskie High,
To our school in Carolina,
Faithful till we die.

"From the plains of Carolina,
We come good and true,
Best of all the country over,
Best in all we do.
Help us in our preparation
To be loyal to
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Ahoskie, here's to you."

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

EVENT OF EVENTS

On Friday night, March 3, the Junior Class of Ahuskie High entertained the Seniors at a banquet in the town community building. Speeches were given by Nancy Dilday, president of the Junior Class; Toast to Seniors, Blakely Chamblee; Response, Jesse Pearce; Toast to Faculty, Ralph Basnight; Response, Mr. Beale; Toast to Grademothers, L. A. Williamson; Response, Mrs. Perry; Toast to Mascots, Leon Cowan; After-dinner speech, by Pudding Copeland.

Elsie Jordan gave a novelty talk and little Miss Pat Greene entertained with a tap dance. Misses Jane Williams and Martha "Hibble" Durfey rendered two solos each: "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," "Mother Machree," "My Wild Irish Rose," "Would That I Were The Sweet Apple Blossom."

On the left-hand page are snapshots of the banquet in full swing.

At 10 o'clock the banquet broke up and the dancing began. This continued until 12 o'clock when the entire group retired to their respective homes.
